The Replacement & Remember

The Replacement

Angelica was willing to do almost anything for Merrick, until they were caught. Her punishment for breaking Lymerian law is unthinkable, but at least she will live. In fact, she might live forever. This YA Sci-fi novel is the first in a series by debut author Bianca Sierra-Luebke. The Lymerians have been living in secret on Earth for centuries. Angelica is their newest replacement, taken to ensure the survival of this long-lived race and to discourage falling in love with a human. Yet Angelica is not like the previous replacements. Even her Architect is unusual.

Clara, commander of the Slayers and deadliest of the Lymerians, is chosen. When she steps forward, their fates are sealed. The Laws of Liturgy are binding. As Clara and two Guards descend into the dungeons with Angelica, the entire race wonders what kind of Lymerian will return when the transition is complete. Full of deception, heartache, and despair, this dark novel is for readers that love a great twist. Bit by bit the story unfolds, changing everything you thought you knew the page before.

Remember

We are the first surge, born following lifetimes of infertility and discord among our kind. Though we were not bred of this planet, it is all we have ever known. We are a new beginning, test subjects for what is hoped to be the future of our race. Clara is the most talented Slayer of her surge, bested only by her trusted friend, Victor. When forced to slay the lives of innocent children, she sets out on a path that will transform her into the deadliest thing on the planet. Victor is the truest Slayer of his surge and their fearless leader. Often torn between duty and love, he endures lifetimes of torment and indecision, constantly teetering between honor and his own desires.

The Westside Kids Meet The Small Fry

There is Danger, Excitement, Adventure, in “The Westside Kids Meet The Small Fry.” This is the story of Rex Tarillo, a chemistry instructor at the University of Davenport. The West Side Kids Motorcycle Gang are in one of his classes, and due to chemicals getting mixed up, Rex becomes a dwarf. There is Hannibal, the gang’s leader, who, through his communication, destroys the English language with misspelled and misused words. Then there is Scooter, who has a passion to work with chemicals and is Hannibal's lifelong friend. T. J. Columbo appears on the scene as a police officer and Hannibal's uncle. Margret Mason is Rex Tarillo's girlfriend, who goes on a crime spree with Rex and helps him rob and shrink people with Rex's chemicals, putting terror in Davenport, Iowa. The West Side Kids team up with Hannibal's uncle Columbo to try to stop and catch the small fry. Read and find out what the little fellows' plans are to do something big in The West Side Kids Meet the Small Fry.

The Author

David retired after working thirty-five years at Ralston Purina. He coached Dad's Softball for thirty years. He always taught the kids that played for him that life is like a sport, which encouraged him to write his other three books, "Life Is Too Short", "Life Is Too Short: Choices In Life" and "Life Is Too Short: Life Is What We Make It". David would joke around once in a while about writing a short story about a Dwarf going around robbing and killing people. This Dwarf was caught by the police and was sentenced to the electric chair by a judge. David was going to call this short story, Small Fry. A friend of his suggested he write a book about Small Fry. After thinking about it, David came up with a more detailed version of Small Fry and The Westside Kids Meet The Small Fry is the result.

David will be at The Book Rack November 29 (Black Friday) 11-1:00. Stop in, why don't you!

Local Author #2: Patty Joy

Author of
An Education in Murder

The Author

Patty Joy juggles many hats while homeschooling her four children, including chauffeur, scout leader, swimming and soccer coach, secretary and cook, adding creative writing in her free time. Though her husband does not own a restaurant, she often wishes he did, as the whole family agrees that he is the better chef. She has lived in Illinois with her family for over twenty years, half of those providing first-hand experience of the joys of small-town life.

An Education in Murder

While homeschooling her five children in her small town, Rainbow Bailey spends her days knee deep in lesson plans, laundry and science projects. Between helping run her husband's sandwich shop and preparing for the town fundraiser, Rainbow's plate is full.

One night off, she discovers a body wrapped in plastic and tossed into a dumpster, turning her whole world upside down.

Charlottesville's new chief of police, fresh from the big city, is struggling to adjust to small-town life. With no good clues to follow, sets his eyes on Rainbow as the prime suspect.

Will Rainbow and her kids, with their unending curiosity and thirst for answers, be able to convince Chief Flint that she had nothing to do with poor Harmless Harvey's death?

Patty Joy will be at The Book Rack November 2, 11-1:00. Please stop in, visit with her and check out her book. Patty is another of the fine local authors too few readers have the privilege to have read. Take your name off that list!

Featured Author #3: Sean Leary Author of The Arimathean

What if the three Magi were NINJA WIZARDS sent to save Mary and Joseph on the way to Bethlehem? That's the fantastic premise behind award-winning author Sean Leary's action-fantasy novel THE ARIMATHEAN, which offers a very different and more explosive take on the Christmas story! THE ARIMATHEAN follows the parents of Christ on the road to his birth as King Herod, in league with Satan, are attempting to destroy them before Jesus can be born. The only thing standing in the way of hordes of demons and deadly assassins are the three Magi as well as their former fourth warrior, THE ARIMATHEAN! Critics have praised the novel as "an action-packed thrill ride" and "Lord of the Rings meets the Bible!" It's a fun, wild and pulse-pounding take on the familiar tale just in time for Christmas!

The Author

Sean Leary is an author, director, artist, musician, producer and entrepreneur who has been writing professionally since debuting at age 11 in the pages of the Comics Buyers Guide. An honors graduate of the University of Southern California masters program, he has written over 50 books including the best-sellers The Arimathean, Every Number is Lucky to Someone and We Are All Characters.

Sean will be at The Book Rack 23 & 30 November from 12 – 2:00. Don't miss this opportunity to stop in and visit with one of the QCA's most successful authors.

Book Reviews

Blue Moon: A Jack Reacher Novel by Lee Child (2019)

In the next highly anticipated installment of Lee Child's acclaimed suspense series, Jack Reacher comes to the aid of an elderly couple . . . and confronts his most dangerous opponents yet.

"This is a random universe," Reacher says. "Once in a blue moon things turn out just right."

This isn't one of those times.

Reacher is on a Greyhound bus, minding his own business, with no particular place to go, and all the time in the world to get there. Then he steps off the bus to help an old man who is obviously just a victim waiting to happen. But you know what they say about good deeds. Now Reacher wants to make it right.

An elderly couple have made a few well-meaning mistakes, and now they owe big money to some very bad people. One brazen move leads to another, and suddenly Reacher finds himself a wanted man in the middle of a brutal turf war between rival Ukrainian and Albanian gangs.

Reacher has to stay one step ahead of the loan sharks, the thugs, and the assassins. He teams up with a fed-up waitress who knows a little more than she's letting on, and sets out to take down the powerful and make the greedy pay. It's a long shot. The odds are against him. But Reacher believes in a certain kind of justice . . . the kind that comes along once in a blue moon.

Blue Moon is vintage Lee Child. A few recent Reacher novels haven't, in my opinion, quite lived up to that high standard. They just haven't had "it" the way some earlier in the series. Well, it seems we're back. Blue Moon is a fast, frantic, fun read. I give it a full A and hope you have a chance to read it. You won't be disappointed. Get it on your Holiday gift list, or your Request List at The Book Rack. Don't wait, the list will be lo-o-ong.

The Return, an Inspector Van Veeteren Mystery by Hakan Nesser (2007)

Nesser spins a story that leaves even the most veteran crime novel readers chilled.

A new case for Chief Inspector Van Veeteren - the complicated history of a nearly perfect murder. On a sunny August day a man is released from prison. On a rainy April day children at play find his corpse. The fact that the dead man is Leopold Verhaven only becomes clear after some time because the mutilated corpse is without its head, legs and feet. Who would be interested in killing this man, a double murderer who spent 24 years in prison?

Determined to let no case go unsolved, Chief Inspector Van Veeteren reopens the case. What he discovers is that Verhaven was a star sprinter before he went to prison for allegedly killing two of his lovers. However, he never confessed to the murders and spent a lifetime proclaiming his innocence. Was he killed because someone thought he had not been punished enough? Or was someone afraid of Verhaven's revenge? A terrible suspicion stalks Van Veeteren: had Verhaven been telling the truth? Was he really innocent?

“Appealing...engaging...unexpectedly poignant...A lean whodunit whose narrative speed and concision are admirable...Mystery fans should rejoice.”
Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Nesser is another very skilled Swedish mystery writer. This book won the Swedish Crime Writer's Academy Prize for Best Novel in 1994. It's a very good book and I was a little surprised by how much I ended up enjoying it. It develops more slowly than most and focuses heavily on the police work involved. That can become tedious, but not so here. I give it a solid B. Nesser now has 10 titles in his Inspector Van Veeterer series and has begun another series with a planned 5-titles featuring Inspector Barbarotti - a detective who spends as much of his time debating the existence of God as he does solving cases. If you are looking for a new author and see a Nesser novel, give it a try. You're likely to be glad you did.

Whirlwind by Joseph Garber (2004)

Charlie McKenzie is the best at what he does, and what he does best of all is the CIA's dirty work. At least he did until his bosses double-crossed him. Jailed and disgraced to cover up a mammoth intelligence blunder, Charlie wants to get even.

Opportunity knocks when Irina Kolodenkova, a young Russian spy, stumbles across a top-secret technology called Whirlwind, the most important military breakthrough since the atomic bomb. Charlie's the only one with the very special skills needed to track her down and retrieve it. The desk jockeys who betrayed Charlie have no choice: they have to put him back on the job. But Charlie already knows too much. Once he recovers Whirlwind, his enemies plan to betray him again -- this time for keeps.

They put a lethal South African soldier of fortune on Charlie's trail. His orders: keep Charlie in your crosshairs until he finds Whirlwind, then take him down.

However, Charlie has plans of his own, and he is not going to be an easy kill. Quite the contrary ...

"Fast-paced thrillers don't get any better than this." - Clive Cussler

OK. Cussler probably overstated it, but I actually did enjoy this book. I listened to it while driving. Charlie McKenzie is a very likable, witty, sharp as a razor agent who can anticipate every move and counter it deftly. The story was less about the stolen secrets and more about the chase and was definitely fast-paced. I give it a B+. If you can find a Joseph R. Garber book (he only wrote 4) I'd recommend picking it up while you can. I honestly don't think you'll regret it. BTW, his best known book was Vertical Run.

Charley's Web by Joy Fielding (2008)

Charley Webb is a beautiful single mother who writes a successful and controversial column for the Palm Beach Post. She's spent years building an emotional wall against scathing critics, snooty neighbors, and her disapproving family. But when she receives a letter from Jill Rohmer, a young woman serving time on death row for the murders of three small children, her boundaries slowly begin to fade. Jill wants Charley to write her biography so that she can share the many hidden truths about the case that failed to surface during her trial. Seeing this as a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, Charley begins her journey into the mind of this deeply troubled woman.

Her path takes a twisted turn, however, when the anonymous letters she's recently received from an angry reader evolve into threats, targeting her son and daughter. As Charley races against time to save her family, she begins to understand the value of her seemingly intrusive neighbors, friends, and relatives. As she discovers, this network of flawed but loving people might just be her only hope of getting out alive.

Filled with complex characters and a plot rich with intrigue, Charley's Web is Joy Fielding at her heart-skipping, mesmerizing best.

I think this is my first Joy Fielding book, but it won't be my last. It is an intense thriller that kept me fully engaged. Very well written. Charley Webb is a great character. I give it an A-. If you like Erica Spindler, Carlene Thompson, or Linda Barnes, or just enjoy a good thriller, get Joy Fielding.

The 9th Girl by Tami Hoag (2013)

#1 "New York Times" bestselling author Tami Hoag brings back her fan-favorite Minneapolis investigators Sam Kovac and Nikki Liska in the haunting new thriller "The 9th Girl."

"Kovac had seen more dead bodies than he could count: Men, women, children; victims of shootings, stabbings, strangulations, beatings; fresh corpses and bodies that had been left for days in the trunks of cars in the dead of summer. But he had never seen anything quite like this . . ."

On a frigid New Year's Eve in Minneapolis a young woman's brutalized body falls from the trunk of a car into the path of oncoming traffic. Questions as to whether she was alive or dead when she hit the icy pavement result in her macabre nickname, Zombie Doe. Unidentified and unidentifiable, she is the ninth nameless female victim of the year, and homicide detectives Sam Kovac and Nikki Liska are charged with the task of not only finding out who Zombie Doe is, but who in her life hated her enough to destroy her. Was it personal, or could it just have been a crime of opportunity? Their greatest fear is that not only is she their ninth Jane Doe of the year, but that she may be the ninth victim of a vicious transient serial killer they have come to call Doc Holiday.

Crisscrossing America's heartland, Doc Holiday chooses his victims at random, snatching them in one city and leaving them in another, always on a holiday. If Zombie Doe is one of his, he has brought his gruesome game to a new and more terrifying level. But as Kovac and Liska begin to uncover the truth, they will find that the monsters in their ninth girl's life may have lived closer to home. And even as another young woman disappears, they have to ask the question: which is the greater evil--the devil you know or the devil you don't?

This is a very good book. While the subject is hard to take, Hoag handles it well and weaves a gripping story. I give it an A- and recommend it and Tami Hoag to you. If you like Sandra Brown, Kay Hooper, Lisa Jackson or Iris Johansen you'll likely love Hoag!

Travels in the Scriptorium by Paul Auster (2007)

Travels in the Scriptorium details a day in the life of Mr. Blank, an old man who wakes up in a room not knowing who he is or why he is there. The room, a sort of collegiate Motel 6, is equipped with a comfortable leather chair and a manuscript at a desk.

With nothing better to do, Mr. Blank begins to read the manuscript, but no sooner does he start than he is interrupted by a stream of visitors -- a nurse, an ex-cop, a doctor -- who begin asking him about his "operatives." The visitors and operatives are all characters from previous Auster novels.

As Mr. Blank's day drags on, things do not go well. His visitors drug him, the manuscript that he's reading ends abruptly, and someone plays a mean trick on him by moving things around in his room. But then he has a breakthrough: under the guidance of Dr. Farr, he is able to finish the tale of the Confederation and the Alien Territories. Thus, the entire setup -- the scriptorium -- seems to be an in-patient facility for writer's block.

Travels in the Scriptorium poses deep and endlessly debatable questions. Who is really in charge of the creative process: the artist or the art? Is writing a prison (Mr. Blank seems trapped in his room) or is it a paradise (he's fed, clothed, and sexually serviced by one of his nurses)? Is there such a thing as truth, or are there only the fabrications of reckless writers?

"Auster is one of our most intellectually elegant writers. . . . Themes are hungry ghosts, Borges said. Fortunately, Auster's ghosts are insatiable." --Howard Norman, The Washington Post Book World

I'd call this book "literature". Not in the sense of the classics, but rather somewhat experimental writing. It's not for everyone, but is intriguing. I'd give it a C. Just not satisfying for me. Kind of a snapshot from "Waiting for the Barbarians," by J.M. Coetzee, but missing a lot of the substance. The reader has to fill it in with little to go on. If you are a fan of William Golding (Not Lord of the Flies fan), Philip Roth or John Dos Passos you may well enjoy Auster.

Although Scott Carey doesn't look any different, he's been steadily losing weight. There are a couple of other odd things, too. He weighs the same in his clothes and out of them, no matter how heavy they are. Scott doesn't want to be poked and prodded. He mostly just wants someone else to know, and he trusts Doctor Bob Ellis. In the small town of Castle Rock, Scott is engaged in a low grade--but escalating--battle with the lesbians next door whose dog regularly drops his business on Scott's lawn. One of the women is friendly; the other, cold as ice. Both are trying to launch a new restaurant, but the people of Castle Rock want no part of a gay married couple, and the place is in trouble. When Scott finally understands the prejudices they face--including his own--he tries to help. Unlikely alliances, the annual foot race, and the mystery of Scott's affliction bring out the best in people who have indulged the worst in themselves and others.

Stephen King – The Institute – 38.99

In the middle of the night, in a house on a quiet street in suburban Minneapolis, intruders silently murder Luke Ellis's parents and load him into a black SUV. The operation takes less than two minutes. Luke will wake up at The Institute, in a room that looks just like his own, except there's no window. And outside his door are other doors, behind which are other kids with special talents--telekinesis and telepathy--who got to this place the same way Luke did ... In this most sinister of institutions, the director, Mrs. Sigsby, and her staff are ruthlessly dedicated to extracting from these children the force of their extranormal gifts. There are no scruples here. If you go along, you get tokens for the vending machines. If you don't, punishment is brutal. As each new victim disappears to Back Half, Luke becomes more and more desperate to get out and get help. But no one has ever escaped from the Institute.
